

Kinesiology Diploma Course 2018 Student Contract

In the interest of client care and the integrity of professional training courses:

1. All face-to-face client orientated work must be supervised by the tutor. Such supervision may not necessarily involve the actual presence of your tutor but your tutor must monitor, guide and approve any interventions, advice or hands on treatment before it is applied to the client.
2. All students are expected to have read the code of ethics as outlined in the Foundation Kinesiology Interactive homestudy training pack and agree to abide by them.
3. Students must maintain confidentiality between other students at all times.
4. If a student decides to discontinue his studies for any reason then the course fees are still payable in full. All course fees must be paid for before taking the final examinations.
5. The Kinesiology syllabus is exclusive to trained Instructors and as such all material given on the course is confidential and is not to be copied or shared unless proper Instructor training is completed.
6. Students are required to wear sensible clothing and pants to class (no skirts/dresses).
7. Students must declare any infectious diseases that may cause risk to fellow students, tutors or clients.
8. Students must agree to hand in homework at the time, unless prior arrangement with the tutor has been made. Homework must be typed or clearly legible.
9. Students must hand in 20 case studies during the Foundation stage and 50 case studies during the Diploma stage.
10. Students must achieve a minimum of 90% attendance to qualify for entry to the examination. We ask students not to book holidays during course hours. An additional fee of $100 per hour private tutoring is available if a class is missed.
11. Students must notify their tutor of any special circumstances such as dyslexia, physical handicap or English as a second language, prior to the commencement of the course.
12. On successful completion of the Diploma course students must adhere to the rules of the governing organization relating to Continuing Professional Education and professional conduct.
13. Complaints about the course, tutor or fellow students must follow the correct procedure outlined by Aminya Natural Therapies Academy.
14. Your Body Has The Answer reserves the absolute right to refuse admission onto a course or to request that a student discontinues a course where this is deemed necessary. If a student is asked to leave a course, after careful consideration by the academy, then course fees are payable up to the amount of training that has been received.
15. Although not an entry requirement of the course, students accept they are aware that police checks may be completed by the industry body, before insurance to work as a Kinesiologist is given.
